Rich:

Just wanted to send you a note to thank you for participating in the meeting with Secretary Ross. Very much appreciated your thoughtful comments and questions and look forward to remaining in touch on these issues that bear so directly on U.S. national security.

In the small world department, I noted in your bio that you served on the staff of the Senate Government Affairs Committee, which is where my experience with nonproliferation began, as an intern for my home-state Senator, John Glenn, who used his membership on what I think was then called the Govt Ops committee to push through legislation to strengthen US nonpro controls after the 1974 Indian nuclear test, later passed and signed into law as the Non-Proliferation Act of 1978.

Thanks for your public service, and best regards,

Dan Poneman
